Bombers break ground on a new Yankee Stadium in the Bronx

The Yankees will be going home again.

After years of speculation and negotiation regarding a new ballpark for the most storied franchise in baseball, the first shovels of dirt were moved for a new Yankee Stadium during a gala groundbreaking ceremony on Aug. 16.

"I'm very happy for everybody that we're all here to celebrate the new Yankee Stadium," Yankees principal owner George Steinbrenner said. "It's a pleasure to give it to you people."

The groundbreaking ceremony was held at Macombs Dam Park, directly across the street from the current Stadium, on the spot where the new ballpark's bleachers will be. The next-door move means the Bombers are staying in the Bronx, where they have played for 84 years. When the new ballpark is completed for Opening Day 2009, it will be a living mirror to the past.

"This is a historic moment for the Bronx, New York City, New York State, Major League Baseball and for the New York Yankees," chief operating officer Lonn Trost said. "Greatness is truly getting a new home with only one directive—the replication of Yankee Stadium, respecting its history and tradition."

After the renovation of Yankee Stadium in 1974 and 1975, many of the distinctive architectural features of the original Stadium, including much of the instantly identifiable frieze that circled the top of the Stadium, were lost.

"This new home preserves our tradition and restores some of the lost treasures from the 1923 Stadium: the great cathedral windows, the frieze on the roof, the old auxiliary scoreboards in the outfield, along with a host of other things," Yankees president Randy Levine said. "But it maintains the playing field as it is today, relocates Monument Park and keeps all the great features fans have come to love of the present Stadium."

For the Yankees, honoring tradition is a sacred duty.

THE NEW YANKEE STADIUM

"As caretakers of this American icon, the Steinbrenner family is committed to preserving the rich history that the New York Yankees represent," Yankees general partner Steve Swindal said. "As this great monument to our glorious past rises from the ground, it will serve as a tribute to the present, the past and the future."

With 1.35 million square feet of space, the new facility will be a half million square feet larger than the current Stadium. Seating capacity will be an estimated 50,300, and approximately two-thirds of that total will be situated in the Stadium's lower bowl. The ballpark will have 67 traditional suites and three specially designed outdoor suites that will provide seating for 4,300 fans. Of the traditional suites, eight will be party suites, accommodating 400 fans in total. Restaurants, lounges, clubs, party and business areas, along with a special concession area dedicated to the Bleacher Creatures, will pepper the new Stadium. A museum, learning center and 30,000-square-foot common area are also planned as part of the project.

"This new Stadium will present new comforts and new features and will be state of the art in every way," Levine said. "It will have comfortable seating, great service and new entertainment venues. It will be the most spectacular, fan-friendly stadium ever built. As the Boss insists, it will cater to the needs of our fans."

New York City Mayor Michael Bloomberg said the city is creating more than 27 acres of new parks, including one along the Harlem River that will open up the waterfront for recreation. Other improvements to the area include the construction of new parking garages. And for those who wish to come to the game via Metro-North, a new Yankee Stadium stop is on the way.

As the many civic leaders rejoiced over the positive impact the Stadium will have on the community, Swindal reminded everyone that at its essence, the new Stadium is about giving the Yankees and the multitudes who support them the finest baseball palace in the world.

"Our fans are the true reason we were able to embark on this ambitious project," Swindal said of the privately funded ballpark. "Without their unyielding, passionate support of this franchise, this dream would never be realized. This facility will be built with the fan at the forefront as we try to re-create in assiduous detail the original Yankee Stadium, yet have all the facilities of a modern ballpark."

Major League Baseball commissioner Bud Selig, who has presided over an unprecedented wave of ballpark building during his tenure in office, reminisced about his first visit to the Stadium as a teenager and acknowledged the incredible potential the new Stadium has for future baseball fans.

"No stadium can equal the sports history that has been made at Yankee Stadium," he said. "Wherever you turn, you are reminded of such Yankees greats as [Babe] Ruth, [Lou] Gehrig, [Mickey] Mantle, [Yogi] Berra, [Whitey] Ford and, of course, [Joe] DiMaggio. Yankee Stadium is an American monument that has endured for over 83 years. Today we are breaking ground on a new Yankee Stadium, a new monument and new memories for the coming generations of fans. I look forward to the day that I can walk into the new Yankee Stadium with my granddaughters, knowing that they're experiencing a moment that they, too, will never forget."

Regardless of where the Stadium stands, the Yankees' long and glorious history is permanent and profound. The franchise's legacy will follow the Yankees wherever they play baseball.

"As we move across the street to this site within the shadows of Yankees heroes of the past, there is no greater history, no greater tradition in all of sports and no greater responsibility than [the one] we have as stewards

THE WHITE HOUSE

WASHINGTON

August 15, 2006

I send greetings to those gathered for the Groundbreaking Ceremony for the new Yankee Stadium. This milestone marks the beginning of a new era for the Yankees, the Bronx, and the game of baseball.

Since 1923, "The House that Ruth Built" has been a symbol of our national pastime. Greats such as Babe Ruth, Lou Gehrig, Joe DiMaggio, and Mickey Mantle, have all called Yankee Stadium home. This groundbreaking ceremony is an opportunity to recognize Yankee Stadium as an important part of American history and to begin a new chapter in the great story of the New York Yankees.

I appreciate those involved with this event for your commitment to the game of baseball. Your efforts to honor the game's past and celebrate its future help enrich our society and strengthen the spirit of America.

Laura and I send our best wishes on this special occasion.

of this franchise to balance our past and yet have a watchful eye to our future," Swindal said. "So let us celebrate today a new beginning and a new chapter in Yankees history, firmly anchored by the past and tradition yet dreaming of future championships and rich memories for generations that lie ahead."

Trost concluded the event by summoning the spirit of Ruth, the most iconic Bomber of all time, who died on the same day 58 years earlier.

"Today, on the anniversary of his death, we bring to a close the chapter on the House That Ruth Built and raise the curtain on the House That The Boss Built."

George M. Steinbrenner III
Principal Owner

Currently the longest-tenured owner in Major League Baseball, George M. Steinbrenner III, will celebrate his 34th anniversary as Principal Owner of the New York Yankees in 2007. Under his leadership, the New York Yankees have become the leading sports franchise and the most highly recognized sports brand in the world.

On January 3, 1973, a group of businessmen formed and led by Mr. Steinbrenner purchased the New York Yankees from CBS for a net price of $8.7 million. It took just five years for his aggressive leadership to turn the New York Yankees back into World Champions. In the 34 years he has been principal owner of the club, the Yankees have posted a Major-League-best .563 winning percentage (3,022-2,351 record) with 10 American League pennants and six World Championships (also the most in the Majors).

In addition to the team's on-field success, the New York Yankees have consistently shattered franchise and league attendance records at home and on the road. The New York Yankees became only the third Major League team to top the four-million mark in home attendance, and they have done so twice; in 2005, they drew an American League record 4,090,696 fans and surpassed that in 2006, drawing 4,243,780. Away from Yankee Stadium, the Yankees continue to be one of the best draws in baseball and remain the only Major League franchise to top the seven-million mark in combined single-season home and road attendance, having done so in two of the last three seasons.

In recent years, Mr. Steinbrenner's far-reaching vision has continued to build the value and prominence of the franchise, positioning it for the future. In 2002, he was the driving force behind the launch of the YES Network, a trailblazing enterprise that is currently the nation's leading regional sports network. In 2006, the groundbreaking ceremony for the new Yankee Stadium underscored his role as the principal impetus in moving the much-anticipated facility toward completion. It is scheduled to open in April 2009.

In announcing that Major League Baseball's 2008 All-Star Game would be played in New York's Yankee Stadium, Commissioner Bud Selig said of Mr. Steinbrenner, "He has made wonderful contributions to this city and to the Yankees. Clearly one of the primary factors was to honor the city, the franchise and George Steinbrenner."

With 34 seasons of ownership now completed, Mr. Steinbrenner's stewardship has exceeded that of any other New York Yankees owner by 10 years. (Colonel Jacob Ruppert purchased the Yankees with Tillinghast L'Hommedieu Huston in January 1915, bought out Huston in 1922, and maintained sole ownership in the club until his death in 1939—a total of 24 years.) Since Mr. Steinbrenner became principal owner, the other 29 major league clubs have had 99 owners or ownership groups while the Yankees have had just one.

Mr. Steinbrenner's success in the sports world began at an early age. He was a multisport athlete at Culver Military Academy (where he is in the Athletic Hall of Fame) and at Williams College. He began his successful coaching career as an assistant football coach at two Big Ten universities, Northwestern and Purdue. Then he assembled championship basketball teams in the National Industrial and American Basketball Leagues. In 2002, he was honored with the highly prestigious Gold Medal Award from the National Football Foundation and College Hall of Fame for a lifetime of "outstanding commitment, dedication and dynamic leadership in his business, as well as his personal life."

Mr. Steinbrenner has devoted as much of his time and effort to the U.S. Olympic Committee as he has to his many other sporting endeavors. He was Chairman of the USOC Foundation (1997-02) and the Olympic Overview Commission (1988-89) that was created to evaluate the structure and efforts of the USO program. He also served as Vice President of the U.S. Olympic Committee (1989-96) and has been honored with the General Douglas MacArthur USOC Foremost Award and the F. Don Miller United States Olympic Award. He has also served on the NCAA Foundation Board of Trustees since 1990.

In 1997, Mr. Steinbrenner was honored as "Outstanding New Yorker" and was named Tampa's "Citizen-of-the-Year" in 1998. In 2002, the Sporting News named him the No. 1 "Most Powerful Man in Sports."

Mr. Steinbrenner currently serves as a trustee for the NCAA Foundation and is a member of the Baseball Hall of Fame's Board of Directors.

Brian Cashman

Senior Vice President And General Manager

Brian McGuire Cashman has literally grown up with the Yankees, moving from the baseball equivalents of the "mail room" to the "board room" over the past 21 seasons.

Mr. Cashman joined the Yankees—at age 19—in June 1986 as an intern in the club's Minor League and Scouting Department. On February 3, 1998, Principal Owner George M. Steinbrenner gave him the opportunity—at age 31—to become the second-youngest General Manager in baseball history. Now in his 10th season, Cashman is the longest-tenured GM under Mr. Steinbrenner.

In a franchise marked by milestones, Cashman has carried on the winning tradition of the Yankees. In his first season (1998), he became the youngest GM to win a World Series and went on to become the only GM in baseball history to win World Championships in each of his first three seasons (1998-2000). He is also only the third GM in baseball history to win at least four consecutive League Championships and was the first to do it in his first four seasons (1998-2001). Only former Yankees General Managers Ed Barrow (four straight, 1936-39) and George Weiss (five straight, 1949-53) have also achieved the feat.

Cashman is the only General Manager in Major League history to guide a team to division or league titles in each of his first nine seasons from 1998-2006. During that span, the Yankees have compiled a cumulative record of 891-563 — the best winning percentage (.613) in the Major Leagues during that period. According to Baseball America, it is also the highest lifetime winning percentage of any General Manager since 1950 (minimum five seasons).

As General Manager of the Yankees, Cashman has been involved in dozens of Major League free-agent signings and more than 70 trades involving almost 200 players. Notable among these signings are Johnny Damon, Jason Giambi, Orlando Hernandez, Jon Lieber, Hideki Matsui, Mike Mussina, Alfonso Soriano and the re-acquisition of Andy Pettitte. Some of the most strategically important trade acquisitions include Aaron Boone, Roger Clemens, David Justice, Chuck Knoblauch and Alex Rodriguez. There have been three women in Major League history to hold the position of Assistant General Manager and Cashman has hired two of them: Jean Afterman, the Yankees' current Vice President and Assistant General Manager; and Kim Ng, who is currently Vice President and Assistant General Manager of the Los Angeles Dodgers.

Various groups have honored the achievements of the Yankees and Mr. Cashman. He has been honored as "Executive of the Year" three times: by the Boston Chapter of the BBWAA in 2000; and in 1999 and 2003 by the New Jersey Sportswriters' Association. The Yankees earned ESPY awards—presented by ESPN—as "Outstanding Team of the Year" in both 1998 and 2000 and they have also been named "Organization of the Year" by Baseball America in 1998 and by USA Today in 1999. In 2001, the Yankees GM received his third consecutive "40 Under 40" Award presented by the Street & Smith's Sports Business Journal to recognize the top 40 people under the age of 40 who have made the greatest impact in the sports business industry. It was his final year of eligibility for the award and he has since been inducted into the publication's "40 Under 40" Hall of Fame. In 2003, Cashman was honored by the Latino Sports Writers and Broadcasters with their annual "Latino Achievement Award" for his contributions to the Latin media. He was most recently honored with the 2005 "Ossie Davis Award for Inspirational Leadership," awarded each year to a key leader in an organization that works to promote opportunity in diversity.

On February 11, 2004, Cashman was given the honor of ringing the opening bell at the New York Stock Exchange. (The market closed at 10,737.70 on that day, its highest close since June 13, 2001.)

He was heavily involved in bringing the Yankees to Tokyo for "Opening Series 2004" to honor the 70th Anniversary ofMajor League Baseball's historic tour of Japan (which included Babe Ruth and Lou Gehrig).

Upon graduation from Catholic University in Washington, D.C. in June 1989, Cashman became a full-time Assistant in Baseball Operations for the Yankees. He was later promoted and transferred to Tampa, Florida, where he served as the Assistant Farm Director from 1990 to 1992. He returned to New York and became Assistant General Manager, Baseball Administration in November 1992.

Born on July 3, 1967, in Rockville Center, NY, Cashman grew up in Lexington, KY. He attended Georgetown Prep in Rockville, MD, before attending Catholic University in Washington, D.C. to major in history and play intercollegiate baseball. His love for baseball developed when long-time family friends (and former Brooklyn Dodger) Ralph and Ann Branca arranged for him to serve as a bat boy for the Los Angeles Dodgers in spring training in 1982.

He and his wife, Mary, have a daughter, Grace Eva, and a son, Theodore John.

Mark Newman

Senior Vice President, Baseball Operations

Mark Newman begins his eighth season as the Yankees' Senior Vice President of Baseball Operations in 2007 and his 19th season with the Yankees. Prior to being named to his current position in 2000, Mr. Newman served as the club's Vice President of Player Development and Scouting from 1997 through 1999.

During his tenure, the Yankees' player development system has been recognized for producing "home-grown" talent including All-Stars Robinson Cano, Derek Jeter, Andy Pettitte, Jorge Posada and Mariano Rivera, as well as 2006 Cy Young Award runner-up Chien-Ming Wang. Under Newman's supervision over the last few years, the Yankees have drafted and stockpiled talented prospects to evolve into what has recently been lauded as one of the best player development systems in baseball. In 2006, the Yankees minor-league affiliates (from the the Dominican Summer League through Triple-A) combined to post a 468-358 record (.567) -- the best winning percentage among all Major League franchises.

The Yankees were selected the 1998 "Organization of the Year" by Baseball America and the 1999 "Organization of the Year" by USA Today, designations which go to the organization with the most prospects. In addition to appearing in postseason play for 12 consecutive seasons (1995-2006), the Yankees are one of only two teams whose minor league affiliates have posted winning records in each of the last 17 seasons since 1990 (also Cleveland Indians).

Mr. Newman began his career in the Yankees organization in 1989 as Coordinator of Instruction and served in that position until his promotion to Director of Player Development and Scouting in 1996. He was named Vice President of Player Development and Scouting in 1997. In his first role with the club, he oversaw all managers and coaches in the farm system and planned both Major and Minor League spring training.

In 1972, Mr. Newman began a baseball coaching career at 22 years old as pitching coach for Southern Illinois University in Carbondale, IL. After spending nine successful seasons there—during which he earned his law degree with honors—he was named Head Baseball Coach at Old Dominion University in 1981. Mr. Newman's impressive 321-167-3 record in nine seasons was recognized with his induction into the ODU Hall of Fame in 1997. He was inducted into the SIU Hall of Fame in 2000.

Jean Afterman

Vice President, Assistant General Manager

Jean Afterman begins her sixth season as the Yankees' Assistant General Manager (fifth as Vice President) in 2007 and is only the third female to hold such a position in Major League Baseball (second with the Yankees). She succeeded Kim Ng, who was Baseball's second female Assistant General Manager from 1998 through 2001.

Ms. Afterman has been an integral part of the Yankees' efforts to spearhead operations in Asia. In her first year with the Yankees, she was instrumental in developing the club's relationship with the Yomiuri Giants of the Japan Central League and the signing of three-time Central League Most Valuable Player Hideki Matsui. She continues to cultivate relationships within the international baseball community, and earlier in 2007 joined Team President Randy Levine and General Manager Brian Cashman on a week-long trip to Asia that included a working agreement with the Chinese Baseball Association

In 2004, Ms. Afterman was named one of the "Power 100" by the Sporting News and was also selected as one of the "50 Most Powerful Women in New York" by the New York Post in 2003.

Ms. Afterman joined the Yankees with a diverse business and legal background, including corporate, labor and immigration law as well as international sports and licensing with an emphasis on US-Japan issues. She has traveled and lectured in Japan on business issues and, in 1996, Ms. Afterman was appointed by the U.S. Secretary of Agriculture to a federal advisory committee, the National Organic Standards Board. Prior to joining the Yankees, Ms. Afterman managed her own practice, providing athletic representation and management with a specialization in arbitration proceedings.

From 1994 to 1999, she was General Counsel at KDN Sports, Inc. and handled business and legal affairs for international baseball clients, including Hideo Nomo, Hideki Irabu, Masato Yoshii, Alfonso Soriano and more than 30 other Major and Minor League players.

Winning Tradition

The Yankees have recorded 95 or more wins in each of the last six seasons (2001-2006), only the second time in franchise history that the Yankees have reached the 95-win plateau in at least six straight years (also had at least 95 wins in nine straight seasons from 1949-1957)... the 1941-1946 St. Louis Cardinals are the only other team in Major-League history to have accomplished such a streak.

Drew broke up the no-hitter with a home run, and the Dodgers eventually won 6-2...marked the second time in his career that he pitched at least 7.0 innings and allowed only one hit...his team lost both games...also on 8/3/03 at Oakland while with the Yankees (8.0IP, 1H, 1R, 1ER, 2BB, 6K)...went 1-4 with a 5.25 ERA in April.

Selected by the New York (AL) in the third round of 2001 First-Year Player Draft.

First-Place Finishes

The Yankees recorded their ninth consecutive first-place finish in 2006, extending their American-League record...it was the 45th first-place finish in team history, the most of any professional sports franchise...the Yankees are followed by the Montreal Canadiens (32), Minneapolis/Los Angeles Lakers (28), Boston/Milwaukee/Atlanta Braves (27), Brooklyn/Los Angeles Dodgers (27) and Boston Celtics (24)...the Yankees' first-place total includes the strike-shortened 1981 season when they won the first-half American League East title.

95 Wins in Six Straight Seasons

The Yankees have recorded 95 or more wins in each of the last six seasons (2001-2006), the third time in franchise history that the Yankees have won 95 games or more games in at least five straight years (also had at least 95 wins in nine straight seasons from 1949-1957; and in five straight from 1960-1964)...only four other teams in Major-League history have ever compiled at least five straight seasons of 95 or more wins: the 1906-1910 Chicago Cubs (five straight); 1941-1946 St. Louis Cardinals (six straight); 1972-1976 Cincinnati Reds (five straight); and 1996-2000 Atlanta Braves (five straight)...only the Yankees—with three—have ever compiled more than one such streak.

HISTORY & RECORDS

REGGIE JACKSON HITS THREE HOME RUNS VS. THE DODGERS IN GAME SIX OF THE 1977 WORLD SERIES.

History of the New York Yankees

What would become the most successful team in sports history actually began as the Baltimore Orioles in 1901. When that franchise folded after only two seasons, it was purchased for $18,000 by two colorful New Yorkers, Frank Farrell and Bill Devery.

New York's third Major-League team, joining the New York Giants and Brooklyn Dodgers of the National League, would play its home games in a hastily constructed, all-wood park at 168th Street and Broadway. Because the site was one of the highest spots in Manhattan, the team was named the "Highlanders" and their home field "Hilltop Park." They played their inaugural game on April 22, 1903, losing 3-1 to the Senators at Washing-ton. New York recorded the first win in franchise history the next day, a 7-2 decision at Washington.

The Highlanders nearly captured the American-League pennant in 1904—only their second season—as they finished only 1.5 games behind the Boston Pilgrims in the first of three second-place finishes from 1904 to 1910.

After a spectacular fire severely damaged the Polo Grounds in 1911, the Highlanders' owners invited the Giants to share Hilltop Park. Two years later the Giants returned the favor and allowed the Highlanders to move into their rebuilt and vastly superior park. With the move, the Highlanders officially changed their nickname to "Yankees" (by which they had actually been known for most of their history). Two years after the move—on January 11, 1915—Colonel Jacob Ruppert and Colonel Tillinghast L'Hommedieu Huston purchased the franchise from its by-now disgruntled owners.

Babe Ruth

From 1911 to 1919, the Yankees won as many as 80 games in a season only twice, but the franchise's fortunes would change forever on January 3, 1920. On what is perhaps the most significant date in club history, the Yankees purchased the contract of George Herman "Babe" Ruth from the Boston Red Sox for $125,000 and a $350,000 loan against the mortgage on Fenway Park.

Ruth's impact was immediate. The Yankees won 95 games in 1920, their highest victory total to date, and captured their first American-League pennant a year later. Their attendance at the Polo Grounds doubled to 1,289,422 in 1920 and, in 1921, the Giants notified their tenant to vacate the Polo Grounds as soon as possible. Now bitter rivals, the two teams squared off in the World Series in 1921 and 1922 with the Giants winning both times.

With their departure from the Polo Grounds inevitable, the Yankee owners set out to build a spectacular ballpark of their own. Baseball's first triple-decked structure with an advertised capacity of 70,000, it would also be the first baseball facility to be labeled a "stadium."

Construction began on May 5, 1922 and, in only 284 working days, Yankee Stadium was ready for its inaugural game on April 18, 1923 vs. the Boston Red Sox. An announced crowd of 74,200 fans packed Yankee Stadium for a glimpse of Baseball's grandest facility while thousands milled around outside after the fire department finally ordered the gates closed. Appropriately, Ruth christened his new home with a three-run homer to cap a four-run third inning as the Yankees coasted to a 4-1 win.

Because it was widely recognized that Ruth's tremendous drawing power made the new stadium possible, it would immediately become known as "The House That Ruth Built." Later that season, the Stadium hosted the first of 37 World Series and Yankees won their first World Championship over their former landlord, the Giants. Of course, as the Stadium became the stage for a staggering number of World titles—now totaling 26—it would also become known as "The Home of Champions."

On June 1, 1925 in a 5-3 loss vs. Washington, Manager Miller Huggins inserted a 21-year-old rookie first baseman as a pinch hitter for light-hitting shortstop Pee Wee Wanninger. No one could have imagined at the time that this appearance would be the first of 2,130 consecutive games played by Lou Gehrig, who, with Babe Ruth and later Joe DiMaggio, anchored some of the greatest ball clubs of all time.

Opening Yankee Stadium

After a disheartening loss to the St. Louis Cardinals in the 1926 World Series, the Yankees rolled to World Champion-ships in both 1927 and 1928, sweeping the Series both years. The 1927 club, the first Yankee team to be labeled "Murderers' Row," became the yardstick by which athletic greatness is measured. During that season, Ruth shattered his own single-season home run record with his 60th on September 30,1927.

In his 15 seasons in pinstripes, Ruth helped build a tradition of winning with seven American-League pennants and four World Championships. He finished his unparalleled career (with the Boston Braves in 1935) with 714 home runs, 12 American-League home-run titles and six RBI crowns, including five seasons with more than 150. A charter member of Baseball's Hall of Fame, he remains widely regarded as the greatest player of all-time.

After the 1934 season, Ruth's last in New York, the Yankees purchased the contract of a budding star named Joseph Paul DiMaggio from the San Francisco Seals of the Pacific Coast League. Two years later, DiMaggio made his debut in pinstripes and helped the Yankees to an incredible string of four consecutive World Championships under Manager Joe McCarthy from 1936 through 1939. The decade of the thirties also produced one of the game's greatest lefty-righty pitching combinations in future Hall of Famers Lefty Gomez and Red Ruffing. A four-time 20-game winner—including 24-7 in 1932 and 26-5 in 1934—Gomez was also 6-0 in five World Series. Ruffing posted seasons of Lou Gehrig delivers his farewell address on July 4, 1939.

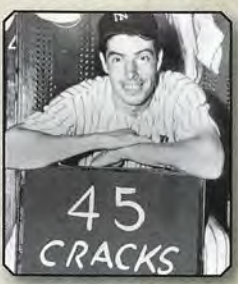
20, 20, 21 and 21 wins on four World-Championship clubs from 1936-39.

Sadly, in 1939, Gehrig was diagnosed with a crippling disease and his streak of 2,130 games came to an end on May 2 when he did not appear in a 22-2 Yankees' win at Detroit. On July 4, the Yankees honored their captain with an emotional "Lou Gehrig Appreciation Day" at Yankee Stadium and his uniform number (4) became the first in Baseball to be retired. He died on June 2, 1941.

With the departure of Gehrig, DiMaggio became the pillar of the next generation of Yankee champions. In his 13 seasons in pinstripes, the Yankees played in the World Series in all but two years and won 10 World-Series titles. The legendary "Yankee Clipper" compiled one of the game's most remarkable—and perhaps unbreakable—records in 1941 when he hit safely in a record 56 consecutive games.

The Yankees also made a seamless transition after DiMaggio's retirement at the age of 37 after the 1951 season. With Whitey Ford and Mickey Mantle joining future Hall of Famers Yogi Berra and Phil Rizzuto, the Yankees won eight American-League pennants and six World Championships under Manager Casey Stengel during the 1950's. Their streak of five consecutive World-Series titles from 1949 through 1953 remains a Major-League record with no other team winning as many as four straight.



Joe DiMaggio

Mantle would achieve greatness despite an arrested case of osteo-myelitis and numerous injuries. The powerful switch-hitter belted 536 home runs, collected 2,415 hits and batted .300 or more 10 times in an 18-year career. In his first 14 seasons in pinstripes, the Yankees missed the World Series only twice (in 1954 and 1959).

Ford's lifetime record of 236-106 gives him the best winning percentage (.690) of any 20th century pitcher and he paced the American League in victories three times and in ERA and shutouts twice. He still holds many World Series records, including 10 wins, 33 consecutive scoreless innings and 94 strikeouts.

The heart of the Yankees for 18 seasons, Berra played on an incredible 14 pennant winners and 10 World Champions. He was a three-time MVP and was selected to the All-Star team in every season from 1948 through 1962.

Rizzuto was recognized as the glue of 10 pennant winners and eight World-Series Champions from 1941-56 and captured the league's MVP award in 1950, batting .324 with 200 hits and 125 runs scored.

And not every contributor to Yankee and Baseball history was a future Hall of Famer. In Game Five of the 1956 World Series vs. the Brooklyn Dodgers on October 8th at Yankee Stadium, right-hander Don Larsen authored what is perhaps the game's greatest pitching performance when he retired all 27 Dodger batters for the only perfect game in World-Series history.

The Yankees opened the decade of the sixties in their usual fashion, winning pennants in the first five seasons (1960-'64) and World-Series titles in 1961 and 1962. Incredibly, in the 29 seasons from 1936 to 1964, the Yankees won a remarkable 22 pennants and 16 World Championships. The 1961 club is still regarded as one of the best teams in Baseball history. With Mantle and Roger Maris embroiled in a season-long race to break Ruth's single-season home-run record, the Yankees rolled to 109 wins en route to the World Championship. Maris smashed Ruth's record when he belted his 61st home run on October 1 at Yankee Stadium in the last game of the season.

But age finally caught up with the ball club after a seven-game Series loss to the St. Louis Cardinals in 1964. The Yankees would finish first in the division only once in the next nine seasons and actually plummeted to last place in 1966 for the first time in 53 years.

Whitey Ford

The team's fall from grace ended on January 2, 1973, when the most storied franchise in sports history was sold by CBS to a group headed by George M. Steinbrenner III. With the addition of Catfish Hunter—Baseball's first marquee free agent—shrewd trades which brought Ed Figueroa, Mickey Rivers, Chris Chambliss and Willie Randolph and a strong nucleus which included Thurman Munson, Graig Nettles, Roy White and Sparky Lyle, the Yankees would make their first post-season appearance in 12 years in 1976 by winning their first American-League-East title. Then on October 14, 1976, in the deciding fifth game of the League Championship Series vs. the Kansas City Royals, Chambliss launched a ninth-inning, pennant-winning home run to put the Yankees back in the World Series.

Mickey Mantle and Roger Maris

After a disheartening four-game sweep vs. the Cincinnati Reds in the 1976 World Series, the Yankees introduced Reggie Jackson—the most prolific slugger of his era—as the club's newest free-agent acquisition. Jackson then capped an exciting 1977 season with one of Baseball's greatest individual performances. In Game Six of the World Series vs. the Los Angeles Dodgers at Yankee Stadium on October 18, "Mr. October" belted three home runs on three swings of the bat.

In 1978, the Yankees overcame a 14.0-game deficit in the American League East to force a one-game playoff with the Boston Red Sox at Fenway Park to decide the American-League pennant. Shortstop Bucky Dent erased a 2-0 Red Sox' lead in the seventh inning with a dramatic three-run homer and the Yankees went on to a 5-4 win en route to a second straight World Championship.

The '78 season also saw the emergence of Ron Guidry as one the franchise's greatest pitchers. A four-time American-League All-Star, Guidry compiled one of the most dominating seasons in baseball history in 1978 and became known as "Louisiana Lightning." He went 25-3 with a 1.74 earned run average in leading the Yankees to their dramatic comeback, compiling a club-record 248 strikeouts and nine shutouts en route to a unanimous selection as the A.L.'s Cy-Young-Award recipient. On June 17, 1978 vs. the California Angels at Yankee Stadium, Guidry shattered the club record for strikeouts with 18. The Yankees' co-captain—with Willie Randolph—from 1986 through 1988, Guidry also won 20 games in 1983 (21-9) and 1985 (22-6).

Lefty Gomez

The seventies ended with tragedy as Thurman

Reggie Jackson hit three home runs in Game 6 of the 1977 World Series.

Munson, the Yankees' first captain since Gehrig, was killed in the crash of his private jet on August 2, 1979. Only 32 at the time of his death, Munson was the undisputed leader of the clubs that won three consecutive pennants and two World Championships. After their Captain's death, the Yankees would make only one more World-Series appearance (1981) in 17 years despite compiling the best record in the Major Leagues during the decade of the eighties.

The eighties also saw the development of one of the franchise's greatest and most popular players, Don Mattingly. "Donnie Baseball," the team captain from 1991 through 1995, batted .307 in his Yankee career (1982-95) and compiled an incredible six-year stretch from 1984-89. During those years, he batted .327 and topped 100 RBI five times, including a career-high 145 in 1985 when he captured the A.L. MVP award. A year earlier, he outdueled teammate Dave Winfield on the final day of the season for the league's batting crown (.343 to .340).

Winfield, who came to the Yankees as the game's most-sought-after free agent in 1981, compiled Hall-of-Fame credentials in his eight-plus seasons in pinstripes (1981-90). He belted 205 home runs for the Yankees with 818 RBI and won five gold gloves.

After an absence of 13 years, the Yankees returned to post-season play in 1995 as the American League's first-ever "Wild-Card" entry. A devastating five-game loss to the Seattle Mariners in the Division Series was only the start of an incredible run of eight consecutive post-season appearances, a record shared only by the Atlanta Braves.

In 1996, under new skipper Joe Torre, the Yankees returned to the World Series and would win four of the next five World Championships, including three straight from 1998 through 2000. Their 114 victories in 1998 shattered the 44-year-old American-League mark of 111 wins by the 1954 Cleveland Indians (was broken by Seattle in 2001) and their 125 total victories (with 11 post-season wins) remains Baseball's best single-season total.

The Yankees' most-recent era of greatness featured a consistent lineup of great home-grown and acquired players to rival any period in franchise history. Since the arrival of Bernie Williams in 1991, the Yankees' farm system has produced All-Stars Robinson Cano, Derek Jeter, Andy Pettitte, Jorge Posada and Mariano Rivera. In addition, shrewd trades and free-agent acquisitions have brought such All-Stars as Wade Boggs, Scott Brosius, Roger Clemens, David Cone, Jason Giambi, Tino Martinez, Hideki Matsui, Mike Mussina, Paul O'Neill and Alex Rodriguez.

In 2001, the Yankees failed to become only the second team in history to win four consecutive World-Series titles, but captured the hearts of the nation in the aftermath of the September 11th attacks. The Yankees dropped the first two games of the Series vs. the Arizona Diamondbacks at Bank One Ballpark, but rallied to win the next three at Yankee Stadium behind dramatic ninth-inning comebacks in both Games Four and Five. On consecutive nights, Tino Martinez and Scott Brosius erased two-run, ninth-inning Diamondback leads with the Yankees winning both games in extra innings. It marked the first time in World-Series history that a team won two games in the same series when trailing by at least two runs in the ninth inning.

Entering their 105th season in 2007, the Yankees seek to extend their American League record of consecutive post-season appearances to 13 (a record exceeded only by the Atlanta Braves' recently-ended streak of 14 straight). They will do so by expanding upon the kind of innovation that set their first century—and its 26 World Championships—in motion. More than 100 years ago, the original 1903 team was built with stars from no fewer than eight different Major League teams. The 2007 Yankees will be comprised of stars from no fewer than seven different nations.

The 2007 Yankees roster is made up of players from no fewer than seven different nations, including Hideki Matsui from Japan.

Yankees in Cooperstown

According to the National Baseball Hall of Fame, the New York Yankees have better representation than any other club, with 24 members (the New York Giants have placed the most players in the Hall with 21). For the purpose of comparison, games played was the determining factor for position players who suited up for more than one club. For pitchers, games won was the yardstick. Based on the Hall of Fame's criteria, Reggie Jackson, "Catfish" Hunter and, most recently, Wade Boggs are not counted among the Yankees 24 representatives as Jackson played more games for Oakland. Hunter won more games with the A's and Boggs played more games with Boston. Each player, however, played five distinguished seasons for the Yankees. The former Yankee players, managers and executives in the Hall of Fame are (year of election in parenthesis):

Babe Ruth (1936)

Lou Gehrig (1939)

Willie Keeler (1939)

Jack Chesbro (1946)

Yankees Retired Uniform Numbers

Beginning with Lou Gehrig's number 4 in 1939, the Yankees have retired 15 uniform numbers to honor 16 players and managers.

1 Billy Martin (Number retired in 1986)

Born: May 16, 1928 in Berkeley, CA • Died: Dec. 25, 1989 in Binghamton, NY
Height: 5-11 • Weight: 165 • B/T: R/R

Had as much "Yankee Pride" as any player or manager to wear pinstripes and he implanted his own fierce desire to win in his teams. Played an integral part in four World Series in the 50's as a player, and added another ring managing the Yankees in 1977. His .333 lifetime series batting average is fourth with at least 75 AB on the all-time series list. Combative and daring, Martin was a brilliant baseball strategist and a legend in Yankee history.

3 Babe Ruth (Number retired in 1948)

Born: Feb. 6, 1895 in Baltimore, MD • Died: Aug. 16, 1948 in New York, NY
Height: 6-2 • Weight: 215 • B/T: L/L

Baseball's greatest slugger and the most colorful figure in the game's history. Debuted as a pitcher for the Boston Red Sox, winning 89 games over six seasons before being converted to the outfield because of his tremendous power. Was sold to the Yankees for $120,000 in 1920 and his 54 home runs that year were more than any other American-League team. En route to 714 career home runs, won 12 home run titles, hitting 60 in 1927. Added 15 home runs in World Series competition as he led the Yankees to seven Series appearances and four World titles. A member of the inaugural class of Hall of Fame inductees in 1936.

4 Lou Gehrig (Number retired in 1939)

Born: June 19, 1903 in New York, NY • Died: June 2, 1941 in Riverdale, NY
Height: 6-1 • Weight: 212 • B/T: L/L

Durable, powerhitting first baseman who played in an amazing 2,130 consecutive games between 1925 and 1939. Drove in at least 100 runs for 13 straight seasons (1926-38) and established an American-League record with 184 RBI in 1931. Compiled a .340 lifetime batting average and belted 493 home runs in a career shortened by terminal illness. Was honored at Yankee Stadium on July 4, 1939 and made memorable "Today, I consider myself the luckiest man on the face of the earth" speech. Life was immortalized in classic 1942 motion picture, The Pride of the Yankees, starring Gary Cooper. Elected to the Hall of Fame in 1939.

5 Joe DiMaggio (Number retired in 1952)

Born: Nov. 25, 1914 in Martinez, CA • Died: March 8, 1999 in Hollywood, FL
Height: 6-2 • Weight: 193 • B/T: R/R

The "Yankee Clipper" is considered by many experts as the best all-around baseball player in history. Was a sensational hitter for average and power, a splendid, graceful, ball-hawking center fielder with a powerfully accurate arm and a daring and alert baserunner. Compiled a .325 lifetime batting average from 1936 to 1951. The two-time batting champion and three-time MVP powered the Yankees to the first of four consecutive World Championships in his 1936 rookie season. Many rate his 56-consecutive-game batting streak in 1941 as the top baseball feat of all time. Elected to the Hall of Fame in 1955.

7 Mickey Mantle (Number retired in 1969)

Born: Oct. 20, 1931 in Spavinaw, OK • Died: Aug. 14, 1995 in Dallas, TX
Height: 6-0 • Weight: 201 • B/T: S/R

"The Mick" was the most feared hitter on the most successful team in history. In his best seasons, and there were many, Mantle was simply a devastating player. He could run like the wind and hit tape measure homers, like his famous 565-footer in Washington in 1953. He led the Yanks to 12 fall classics in 14 years, and seven World Championships. He still owns records for most homers, RBI, runs, walks, and strikeouts in World Series play. In 1956, Mantle had one of the greatest seasons ever at the plate. He hit 52 homers with 130 RBI and a .353 average to win the Triple Crown. Mantle was elected to the Hall of Fame in 1974.

8 Yogi Berra (Number retired in 1972)

Born: May 12, 1925 in St. Louis, MO
Height: 5-8 • Weight: 191 • B/T: L/R

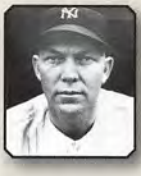
A mainstay for the most dominating teams in history, the Yankee that played from the end of World War II until the early 1960's. Although he never led the league in a single major offensive category, he was just the third man to win three Most Valuable Player awards. Selected to play in 15 successive All-Star games. Played on 14 pennant winners and 10 World Champions, more than anyone in history. Led Yankees to the 1964 pennant as manager. Elected to the Hall of Fame in 1972.

Yankees Retired Uniform Numbers



8 Bill Dickey (Number retired in 1972)

Born: June 6, 1907 in Bastrop, LA • Died: Nov. 12, 1993
Height: 6-1 • Weight: 185 • B/T: L/R

Regarded as one of the greatest catchers of all-time. A durable and tireless worker, he caught more than 100 games in 13 consecutive seasons (1929-41), an American-League record. In 1931, he did not allow a single passed ball in 125 games behind the plate, another AL record. Dickey also excelled at the plate, batting over .300 in 10 of his first 11 seasons while hitting 202 homers during his career. He handled Yankee pitching staffs on eight World Series teams, winning seven championships.

9 Roger Maris (Number retired in 1984)

Born: Sept. 10, 1934 in Hibbing, MN • Died: Dec. 14, 1985 in Houston, TX
Height: 6-0 • Weight: 197 • B/T: L/R

In one of the most dramatic assaults on a baseball record, Maris caught, then surpassed Babe Ruth's famous home run record of 60. Maris hit 61 home runs in 1961, a Major-League record which stood until 1998 and is still the American-League mark.The two-time American League MVP (1960-'61) is also considered as one of the best fielding right fielders in Yankee history.

10 Phil Rizzuto (Number retired in 1985)

Born: Sept. 25, 1917 in New York, NY
Height: 5-6 • Weight: 150 • B/T: R/R

Playing 13 years for the Yanks, "Scooter" went to the World Series in 10 of those seasons. That stat may best explain why the diminutive shortstop is regarded as a true Yankee legend. He was a durable, outstanding shortstop, skilled bunter and enthusiastic baserunner with a solid .273 lifetime batting average. In 1950 Rizzuto earned the A.L. MVP Award, batting .324 with 200 hits, 92 bases on balls, and 125 runs scored. He batted .320 in the 1951 World Series and was named Series' MVP. Spent 40 years as a Yankee broadcaster (1957-96). Elected to the Hall of Fame in 1995.

15 Thurman Munson (Number retired in 1979)

Born: June 7, 1947 in Akron, OH • Died: Aug. 2, 1979 in Canton, OH
Height: 5-11 • Weight: 190 • B/T: R/R

Was the undisputed leader and most respected man on the Yankee teams that won three AL pennants in a row (1976-78) and two World Championships. Munson was a tremendous defensive catcher, winning the Gold Glove Award in three consecutive seasons (1973-75). From 1975-77, Thurman drove in more than 100 runs and hit better than .300 in each of those three seasons. He hit the first Yankee home run in the "new" Yankee Stadium. There is no more tragic date in Yankee history than August 2, 1979. On that date Munson passed away when the plane he was flying crashed while landing.

16 Whitey Ford (Number retired in 1974)

Born: Oct. 21, 1928 in New York, NY
Height: 5-10 • Weight: 181 • B/T: L/L

"The Chairman of the Board" was the ace pitcher on the great Yankee teams of the 1950's and early 60's. The wily southpaw's lifetime record of 236-106 gives him the best winning percentage (.690) of any left-handed 20th century pitcher with 100 or more wins. He paced the American League in victories three times, and in ERA and shutouts twice. The 1961 Cy Young Award winner still holds many World Series records, including 10 wins, 33 consecutive scoreless innings and 94 strikeouts. Elected to the Hall of Fame in 1974.

23 Don Mattingly (Number retired in 1997)

Born: April 20, 1961 in Evansville, IN
Height: 6-0 • Weight: 185 • B/T: L/L

"Donnie Baseball" was only the 10th captain to be named by the Yankees in their storied history. The premier first baseman of his era, Mattingly was a nine-time Gold Glove winner. The 1985 American League MVP set records for most grand slams in a season (6), most home runs in seven consecutive games (9) and eight consecutive games (10). A humble man of grace and dignity, Mattingly carried on the legacy of the pinstripe tradition and dedicated his career to the pursuit of excellence.

Yankees Retired Uniform Numbers

32 Elston Howard (Number retired in 1984)

Born: Feb. 23, 1929 in St. Louis, MO • Died: Dec. 14, 1980 in New York, NY
Height: 6-2 • Weight: 196 • B/T: R/R

Became the first black player in Yankee history when he made the club in the spring of 1955. The versatile two-time Gold Glove catcher was an important member of the A.L. pennant-winning Yankee teams in nine of his first ten seasons with the club. The 1963 American League MVP, Howard was a clubhouse leader who was respected as both a player and a man. Howard's dignified manner off the field and competitive spirit on the field were positive influences on the Yankee team.

37 Casey Stengel (Number retired in 1970)

Born: July 30, 1889 in Kansas City, MO • Died: Sept. 29, 1975 in Glendale, CA
Height: 5-11 • Weight: 165 • B/T: L/L

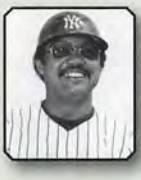
In a distinguished 54-year professional career, "The Old Perfessor" emerged as one of the game's greatest managers. His feat of guiding the Yankees to 10 pennants and seven world titles in a 12-year span ranks as the top managerial accomplishment of all time. Simply put, Casey Stengel was one of the best things to ever happen to the game of baseball. He was an authentic baseball ambassador, making the game fun for millions of Americans. Elected to the Hall of Fame in 1966.



44 Reggie Jackson (Number retired in 1993)

Born: May 18, 1946 in Wyncote, PA
Height: 5-10 • Weight: 181 • B/T: L/L

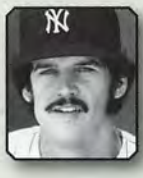
One of the game's premier power hitters, "Mr. October" blasted 563 career roundtrippers, sixth all-time. In Game Six of the 1977 World Series, Jackson hit three home runs, all on the first pitch, as the Yankees beat the Dodgers to wrap up the club's first World Championship since 1962. Jackson was an exciting clutch player and an intimidating clean-up hitter with a .490 career slugging percentage. The 1973 American League MVP once said, "Some people call October a time of pressure. I call it a time of character." Elected to the Hall of Fame in 1993.



49 Ron Guidry (Number retired in 2003)

Born: Aug. 28, 1950 in Lafayette, LA
Height: 5-11 • Weight: 165 • B/T: L/L

"Louisiana Lightning," the four-time American League All-Star and three-time 20-game winner compiled one of the most dominating seasons in baseball history in 1978, going 25-3 with a 1.74 ERA in leading the Yankees to a dramatic comeback—from 14.0 games behind the Boston Red Sox—to capture their second straight World Championship. In 1978, he compiled a club-record 248 strikeouts and nine shutouts en route to a unanimous selection as the American League's Cy-Young-Award recipient. On June 17, 1978 vs. the California Angels at Yankee Stadium, Guidry shattered the club's single-game record for strikeouts with 18. The Yankees' co-captain—with Willie Randolph—from 1986 through his retirement in 1989, he remains in the Top 10 on the Yankees' all-time list in games pitched (368), innings pitched (2392.0), wins (170), winning percentage (.651), strikeouts (1778) and shutouts (26).

Yankees by the Number

In 1929, the New York Yankees became the first team to make numbers a permanent part of the uniform. Other teams quickly adopted the idea and, by 1932, uniform numbers became standard for all teams. The initial distribution of numbers to the Yankees' roster was made according to the player's position in the batting order. Therefore, in 1929, leadoff hitter Earle Combs wore #1, Mark Koenig #2, Babe Ruth #3, Lou Gehrig #4, Bob Meusel #5, Tony Lazzeri #6, Leo Durocher #7, Johnny Grabowski #8, Benny Bengough #9, Bill Dickey #10 (Grabowski, Bengough and Dickey shared the catching duties). After some exhaustive research, the Yankees' Media Relations staff compiled the following list of Yankees uniform numbers. The list represents uniform numbers worn by players, coaches (c) and managers (m) on Yankees' active regular-season rosters. Numbers that have since been retired by the Yankees are denoted by boldface text.

Yankees to Hit for the Cycle

Ten Yankees have hit for the cycle (single, double, triple and home run in the same game) 14 times. Tony Fernandez was the last Yankee to accomplish the feat, performing the act on Sept. 3, 1995 vs. Oakland at Yankee Stadium. He was the first Yankee to hit for the cycle since Bobby Murcer on Aug. 29, 1972 on Aug. 29, 1972 (G1) vs. Texas at Yankee Stadium. The last player to hit for the cycle vs. New York was Detroit's Travis Fryman on July 28, 1993 at Tiger Stadium. It was the first cycle vs. the Yankees since the L.A. Angels Jim Fregosi did it on Juy 28, 1964.

Cone's Perfect Game

On July 18, 1999, David Cone tossed only the 13th perfect game in modern (since 1900) Major-League history. It came only one season after David Wells accomplished the feat and gave the Yankees a record three perfect games in their history, including Don Larsen in the 1956 World Series. Prior to Wells' and Cone's, perfect games had only been pitched in consecutive seasons once (by Jim Bunning of the Phillies in 1964 and the Dodgers' Sandy Koufax in 1965) and never by pitchers from the same team. Yankee Stadium also became the only park to host as many as three perfect games (Dodger Stadium was the site of perfect games by Koufax in 1965 and Montreal's Dennis Martinez in 1991).

Yankees One-Hit Games

Mike Musina

The most-recent one-hitter by a Yankees pitcher was thrown by Ted Lilly on 4/27/02 at Seattle (Lilly became the first Yankee pitcher ever to lose a one-hitter in the regular season)…the Yankees' last complete-game one-hit win was by Mike Mussina on 9/2/01 vs. the Boston Red Sox at Fenway Park in a 1-0 Yankees' victory…it was Mussina's fourth career complete game 1-hitter, tying Randy Johnson for most one-hitters among active pitchers…he retired 26 consecutive batters before Carl Everett singled with two outs in the ninth…it was the first complete-game one-hitter by a Yankee since Jimmy Key on 4/27/93 at California in a 5-0 Yankee win…the Yankees last authored a combined one-hitter on 9/26/97 at Detroit, when four pitchers–Andy Pettitte, Brian Boehringer, Mariano Rivera and Jeff Nelson–limited the Tigers to a third-inning single by Travis Fryman.

Bob Turley and Whitey Ford each hurled three CG one-hitters for New York and both men participated in a fourth…Bob Shawkey, Rip Collins, Lefty Gomez, Vic Raschi and Floyd Bevens each threw two, with one of Bevens' coming in Game Four of the 1947 World Series vs. Brooklyn…Bevens was one out from a no-hitter when the pinch-hitter Cookie Lavagetto doubled in two runs to give the Dodgers a 3-2 victory…it was the last game Bevens and Lavagetto ever played in the Majors.

The Yankees were last held to one hit on 7/16/04 at Detroit (by RHP Mike Maroth)…Joe Wood, Earl Hamilton and Nolan Ryan are the only three men with a pair of one-hitters against the Yankees with both of Hamilton's coming in 1913…Hoyt Wilhelm, who no-hit the Yankees in 1958, also tossed a one-hitter against them in 1959.

Horace Clarke and Don Mattingly are the only Yankees to twice serve as no-hit spoilers…Clarke had the only hit in no-hit bids by Jim Palmer and Joe Niekro…in a single month in 1970, Clarke broke up three no-hitters in the 9th inning, two of which wound up being more than one-hitters…on 5/2/84 at Chicago, Mattingly ruined a perfect game for LaMarr Hoyt with a wind-blown single in the seventh inning, and on 6/29/85 vs. Milwaukee, he also broke up a no-hit bid by Moose Haas, again with a seventh-inning single…on 9/12/81 at Yankee Stadium, Boston LHP Bob Ojeda took a no-hitter into the ninth inning only to have Rick Cerone lead off with a double, followed by a Dave Winfield double.

Yankees Grand Slams

The Yankees hit six grand slams in 2006…they had seven grand slams in 2005…the Yankees hit a franchise-record 10 grand slams in 1987, tying the major-league mark (since exceeded by eight times by seven teams)…Don Mattingly hit a Major-League record six of the 10 grand slams in 1987…on 5/17/02 vs. the Minnesota Twins, Jason Giambi became only the 21st player in Major-League history—and the second Yankee—to hit a last-inning grand slam to take a team to sudden victory when trailing by three runs (Babe Ruth did it on 9/25/25, hitting a one-out grand slam off Chicago's Sarge Connally in the 10th inning of New York's 6-5 win)…on 9/14/99 at Toronto, Bernie Williams and Paul O'Neill hit grand slams in the seventh and eighth innings respectively, the only time in franchise history that players have hit grand slams in consecutive innings…it was also only the third time in franchise history that the Yankees had two grand slams in the same game (also Tony Lazzeri on 5/24/36 at Philadelphia; and Dave Winfield and Don Mattingly on 6/29/87 at Toronto)…in 1998, Shane Spencer led the club with three grand slams (most ever by a Yankee rookie)…he also became the first Yankee rookie to hit at least two slams in one season since Yogi Berra in 1947…gave up nine grand slams in 2000, the most in franchise history (surpassing eight in 1995)…four pitchers have hit grand slams for the Yankees - Red Ruffing (1933), Spud Chandler (1940), Don Larsen (1956) and Mel Stottlemyre (1965)…there have been 21 pinch-hit grand slams in Yankee history (by 17 players), the last by Jorge Posada on 6/6/01 vs. Baltimore.

YANKEE STADIUM

History of Yankee Stadium

Only a year after they changed Baseball forever with the purchase of Babe Ruth from the Boston Red Sox, the Yankees made another acquisition that would forever change the way the game was watched.

On February 6, 1921, the Yankees issued a press release to announce the purchase of 10 acres of property in the west Bronx. The land, purchased from the estate of William Waldorf Astor for $675,000, sat directly across the Harlem River from the Yankees' current Manhattan home, the Polo Grounds, which they shared unhappily with the landlord Giants of the National League since 1913.

The relationship between the Giants and their tenant crumbled after the 1920 season when Yankee attendance—boosted by their new slugging sensation—doubled to 1,289,422. That was over 100,000 more than the Giants, who, in 1921, notified the Yankees to vacate the Polo Grounds as soon as possible. With their departure from the Polo Grounds now inevitable, Yankee co-owners Jacob Ruppert and Tillinghast l'Hommedieu Huston set out to build a spectacular ballpark of their own, Baseball's first triple-decked structure. With an advertised capacity of 70,000, it would also be the first to be labeled a "stadium."

Original plans of the architect—the Osborne Engineering Company of Cleveland, Ohio—had the Stadium triple-decked and roofed all the way around. An early press release, in fact, described the Yankees' new home as a field enclosed with towering embattlements, rendering the events inside "impenetrable to all human eyes, save those of aviators." But the initial, grand design was quickly scaled back with the triple-decked grandstand not reaching either foul pole. Contrary to the owners' wishes, the action would be more than visible from the elevated trains that passed by the outfield as well as from the buildings that would spring up across River Avenue. Fortunately, a purely decorative element also survived the project's early downsizing and would become the park's most recognizable feature. A 15-foot deep copper facade would adorn the front of the roof which covered much of the Stadium's third deck. It would give Yankee Stadium an air of dignity that no park has possessed—either before or since.

The new stadium would favor left-handed power with the right-field foul pole only 295 feet from home plate (though it would shoot out to 429 by right center). Though the left-field pole measured only 281 feet from the plate, right-handed hitters were neutralized by a 395-foot left field and a whopping 460 to left center. It would also be friendly to patrons, boasting an unheard of "eight toilet rooms for men and as many for women scattered throughout the stands and bleachers." (When the Stadium was remodeled 50 years later, it included more than 50 restrooms.) The club's executive offices would be moved from midtown Manhattan and located between the main and mezzanine decks with an electric elevator connecting them with the main entrance.

The construction contract was awarded to New York's White Construction Co. on May 5, 1922 with the edict that the job must be completed "at a definite price" ($2.5-million) and by Opening Day 1923. Incredibly, it was. In only 284 working days, Yankee Stadium was ready for its inaugural game on April 18, 1923 vs. the Boston Red Sox.

The famous facade - Yankee Stadium's most-recent recognizeable feature - as it appeared upon completion in 1923.

Officially, 74,200 fans packed Yankee Stadium for their first glimpse of Baseball's grandest facility while thousands more milled around outside after the fire department finally ordered the gates closed. Before the game began, John Phillip Sousa and the Seventh Regiment Band led both clubs to the flagpole in deep center field where the American flag and the Yankees' 1922 pennant were raised. Appropriately, Babe Ruth christened his new home with a three-run homer to cap a four-run third inning as the Yankees coasted to a 4-1 win.

Because it was widely recognized that Ruth's tremendous drawing power made the new stadium possible, it would immediately become known as "The House That Ruth Built." Later that season, the Stadium hosted the first of 35 World Series and the Yankees won their first World Championship over their former landlord, the Giants. Of course, as the Stadium became the stage for a staggering number of World titles—now totaling 26—it also would become known as "The Home of Champions."

In its early years, when wooden bleachers surrounded the outfield, a grass slope approached the outfield walls from foul pole to foul pole. Outfielders, especially Ruth in right, routinely backed up the small hill to pull down fly balls. Atop the bleachers were advertising signs except for a lone, manually operated, wooden scoreboard in right-center field which was "big enough to record 12 innings for games played by every club in the two major leagues." Over the years, the board would be replaced by more modern models. The Yankees, in fact, would unveil the first electronic message board in 1959.

By 1928, the Stadium was ready for its first major facelift as the triple-deck grandstand in left field was extended beyond the foul pole to its current termination point. The right-field grandstand was extended in 1937, allowing "upper-deck" home runs in both directions. With the '37 expansion of the grandstand, the remaining wooden bleachers were replaced by a concrete structure and the distance to center field dropped from 490 feet to a still-astronomical 461 feet.

Except for the addition of lights in 1946, the look of Yankee Stadium would now remain relatively the same until the winter of 1966-67. Then, under the direction of its new owner, CBS, the 44-year-old facility received a $1.5-million modernization, most of which was spent on paint (90 tons of it). The brown concrete exterior was painted white as was the by-now greenish copper facade. Also, all of the grandstand seats went from green to blue, a color scheme that would be retained when the Stadium was completely remodeled after the 1973 season.

On August 8, 1972, after years of debate about the future of the aging ballpark, the Yankees signed a 30-year lease with the City of New York which called for Yankee Stadium to be completely modernized in time for the 1976 season. After completing the Stadium's 50th-Anniversary season in 1973, the Yankees moved to Shea Stadium for two seasons while their home was almost completely demolished and then rebuilt.

The most striking change of the modernization would be the removal of the numerous, obstructive steel columns which supported the second and third decks as well as the roof. By "cantilevering" the upper decks and by lowering the playing field while increasing the slope of the lower stands, sight lines for fans would be dramatically improved. Of course, with the removal of the original roof, the Stadium almost lost its most-recognizable feature: the facade. However, an innovative design concept included an exact replica of the facade atop the new 560-foot-long scoreboard which stretched across the rear of the bleachers. The board would also include baseball's first "telescreen,"

Yankee Stadium, shown during construction, was completed in only 284 working days.

Billed as the world's largest scoreboard in 1959, it came down during renovation after the 1973 season. It would be replaced by a 560-foot long board.

which could provide instant replays of the action by employing a then-incredible "nine shades of gray."

Yankee Stadium's exterior changed dramatically, too, as three escalator towers were added, one at each of the Stadium's three entrances. And, with 10 additional rows of seats added to the upper deck, the already-grand Stadium would have an even more majestic look.

The remodeled Yankee Stadium opened on April 15, 1976—with the Yankees topping Minnesota 11-4—and, like its predecessor, would host the World Series in its inaugural season. The Stadium, in fact, hosted the Fall Classic in its first three seasons with the Yankees winning back-to-back World titles in 1977 and 1978.

As one of the world's most-prestigious addresses, Yankee Stadium has also been the home of scores of other sports, entertainment and cultural events. While the Yankees were on the road or out of season, the Stadium opened its gates to college and pro football, soccer, political assemblies, religious conventions, concerts and even the circus.

Boxing immediately found a home at Yankee Stadium with Benny Leonard winning a 15-round decision over Lou Tendler for the lightweight title three months after the gates opened on July 24, 1923. Until Muhammad Ali stopped Ken Norton on September 28, 1976, 30 championship fights had been fought at the Stadium between 1923 and 1959; perhaps none more memorable than the one for the heavyweight title between Joe Louis and Germany's Max Schmeling on June 22, 1938. After suffering a knockout loss in the initial non-title encounter at the Stadium two years earlier, Louis—now the heavyweight champ—avenged his defeat with a stunning first-round KO in the rematch.

Football also became an immediate fixture at Yankee Stadium with the 1923 Army-Navy game inaugurating a rich history of collegiate and later professional football matchups. On November 12, 1928, with Notre Dame and Army locked in a scoreless game at halftime, the legendary Knute Rockne made his famous "win one for the Gipper" pep talk and the Fighting Irish went out and beat the Cadets, 12-6.

The New York football Giants also called Yankee Stadium home from 1956 through 1973 and, on December 28, 1958, played in what is widely recognized as "the greatest game ever played." With the NFL championship at stake, a crowd of 64,185 watched the Baltimore Colts tie the game 17-17 on a Steve Myrha field goal with seven seconds left. Eight minutes into professional football's first-ever "sudden-death" overtime period, the Colts' Alan Ameche crashed through from the one yard line, ending a contest that would help establish pro football as a major sport.

The Stadium was also an important stop for religious conventions with the conventions of the Jehovah's Witnesses the major outside activity each year. Beginning in 1950, the convention attracted as many as 123,707 people in a single day—far more than any other Stadium event. On October 4, 1965—with the Yankees out of the World Series for only the third time in 17 years—the Stadium hosted an event of worldwide significance. During the first visit to North America by a Pope, Paul VI celebrated mass before a crowd in excess of 80,000. Fourteen years later, John Paul II also made Yankee Stadium a stop on his tour of the United States.

On August 16, 2006, the Yankees broke ground on a new Yankee Stadium, a place where more history will be made.

The Stadium was also home to the New York football Giants from 1956-73.

History of the Yankee Uniform

What would become the most recognizable insignia in sports—the interlocking "NY"—made its first appearance on the uniforms of the New York Highlanders in 1909. The design was actually created in 1877 by Louis B. Tiffany for a medal to be given by the New York City Police Department to Officer John McDowell, the first NYC policeman shot in the line of duty.

Perhaps because one of the club's owners, Bill Devery, was a former NYC police chief, the design was adopted by the Highlanders. It first appeared on both the cap and on the jersey's left sleeve, replacing the separated "N" and "Y" which had appeared on the left and right breast each season since 1903 with the exception of 1905. For that season only, the "N" and "Y" were merged side by side into a monogram on the left breast—actually a forerunner of the now legendary emblem.

Jack Chesbro models the franchise's earliest "NY" design in 1903.

In 1912, their final season at Hilltop Park, the Yankees—as they were now commonly known—made a fashionable debut at their home opener on April 11. Their traditional white uniforms were now trimmed with black pinstripes, creating a look that would become the most famous uniform design in sports history. The Yankees, however, were not the first team with pinstripes and would actually abandon the look for the next two seasons. By 1915, though, the pinstripes were back for good and, with the exception of the cap, the uniform would remain relatively unchanged.

The Yankees utilized numerous cap designs—including pinstripes—from 1903 until 1922 when they finally settled on a solid navy cap with the interlocking "NY" insignia. Only one more element would now be needed to achieve a look that remains in place today. In 1917, the Yankees removed the "NY" monogram from the jersey and went with a plain, pinstripes-only look. The "NY" remained off the uniform—except for the cap—for the next 20 years until it was reinstated in 1936. The legendary Babe Ruth, therefore, actually played his entire Yankee career without ever wearing the club's now-legendary insignia on his jersey. With the exception of minor alterations—including bolder pinstripes in the forties—the Yankee uniform has remained unchanged for more than 70 years and has, of course, grown into another of the team's great traditions.

Lou Gehrig and Tony Lazzeri display the pre-1936 uniform without jersey insignia.

Babe Ruth sports the pinstriped-cap look of 1919-1921.

Origin of Numbered Uniforms

In 1929, the New York Yankees became the first team to make numbers a permanent part of the uniform. Other teams quickly adopted the idea and, by 1932, uniform numbers became standard for all teams. The initial distribution of numbers to the Yankees' roster was made according to the player's position in the batting order. Therefore, in 1929, leadoff hitter Earle Combs wore #1, Mark Koenig #2, Babe Ruth #3, Lou Gehrig #4, Bob Meusel #5, Tony Lazzeri #6, Leo Durocher #7, Johnny Grabowski #8, Benny Bengough #9, Bill Dickey #10 (Grabowski, Bengough and Dickey shared the catching duties).

Why the Yankees?

When the American League moved the Baltimore Orioles to New York for the 1903 season, the club made its home at 168th Street and Broadway, one of the highest spots in Manhattan. The team would, therefore, be known as the "Highlanders" and their field "Hilltop Park." As early as 1905, however, the name "Yankees" began popping up in newspapers whose editors undoubtedly were searching for a shorter name for their headlines. By the time the franchise moved from decaying Hilltop Park to the Polo Grounds in 1913, it officially changed its name to the by then commonly-used "New York Yankees."

Yankee Stadium's Monument Park

Since 1932, the New York Yankees have honored their all-time greats with the dedication of monuments and plaques in the outfield section of Yankee Stadium.

On May 30, 1932, the first monument was dedicated to the memory of Miller Huggins, who died suddenly in 1929. The diminutive manager guided the Yankees to six American-League pennants and three World Championships in his 11-plus seasons.

The first plaque was placed on the center-field wall in April 1940, a tribute to Jacob Ruppert, the former owner who built Yankee Stadium and brought the tradition of winning to the Yankees.

Two more monuments followed in 1941 for Lou Gehrig and in 1949 for slugger Babe Ruth. Later plaques were placed in center field for General Manager Edward Barrow (1954) and the Yankees' two great center fielders, Joe DiMaggio and Mickey Mantle (1969). After his death, Mantle's plaque was removed and replaced by a fourth monument in his honor on August 25, 1996. On April 25, 1999, DiMaggio--who passed away less than two months earlier--was honored with the Stadium's fifth monument. (The two plaques which once honored DiMaggio and Mantle--before being replaced by monuments--were donated by the Yankees to the Yogi Berra Museum and Learning Center in Montclair, NJ).

Originally, the monuments and plaques were part of the playing field. The monuments and flag pole were located in straight-away center field on the warning track about 10 feet in front of the wall. Sometimes long hits and fly balls forced fielders to go through or behind the monuments to retrieve the long drives.

As much of a tradition as the monuments and plaques themselves was the policy of allowing fans to exit Yankee Stadium through the center-field gates via the warning track, pausing and reflecting on the achievements of these great men. When Yankee Stadium was closed for renovations in 1974 and 1975, the monuments and plaques were relocated to an area off the field between the Yankee and visiting bullpens. However, fans were not allowed to exit via the warning track and viewing of Monument Park was only allowed at a great distance.

In 1976, two more plaques were added to memorialize managers Joe McCarthy and Casey Stengel. In the 1980's, plaques were dedicated to Yankee greats Thurman Munson (1980), Roger Maris and Elston Howard (1984), Phil Rizzuto (1985), Billy Martin (1986), Lefty Gomez and Whitey Ford (1987), Yogi Berra and Bill Dickey (1988), and Allie Reynolds (1989). Two recent plaques were dedicated for non-uniformed Yankee legends: the "Voice of the Yankees," Mel Allen, on July 25, 1998; and the "Voice of Yankee Stadium," public-address announcer Bob Sheppard, on May 7, 2000. Reggie Jackson (2002), Ron Guidry (2003) and Red Ruffing (2004) are the most-recent Yankee greats to be honored with plaques in Monument Park. Plaques commemorating the visits of Pope Paul VI in 1965 and Pope John Paul II in 1979 were dedicated by the Knights of Columbus.

In 1985, after the left-center-field fence was moved in, the Yankees were able to open the Monument Park area for fan viewing. Long lines and increased fan interest caused the Yankees to move the fence in further in 1988 and expand the Monument Park area. The Yankees have included a special walkway honoring those Yankees who have their uniform numbers retired.

In a pregame ceremony on September 11, 2002, the Yankees dedicated a monument in remembrance of the victims and heroes of the 9/11 tragedy. It was the sixth monument dedicated in Yankee Stadium and the first to non-Yankee personnel.

Bob Sheppard "The Voice of Yankee Stadium"

As synonymous with Yankee Stadium as the copper facade and Monument Park, Bob Sheppard celebrates his 57th anniversary as the public address announcer in 2007.

The legendary "Voice of Yankee Stadium," who has also been dubbed the "Voice of God" by generations of admiring players and fans, began his tenure with the Yankees on April 17, 1951 with Joe DiMaggio and Mickey Mantle sharing the outfield on Opening Day for the only time in their careers.

Sheppard's incredible career behind the microphone actually started when he volunteered his services for a charity football game in Freeport, Long Island in the late 1940's. A former collegiate and semi-pro athlete who was then working as a high-school speech teacher, Sheppard's background certainly made him a natural for the public-address role as did his love of sports.

An executive from the Brooklyn Dodgers football team of the All-America Conference was at the game, liked Sheppard's style ("clear, concise and correct") and hired him. The football Dodgers folded after only one season at Ebbets Field (1948), but one of their opponents—the New York Yankees—heard Sheppard's booming voice and offered their PA job at Yankee Stadium. Baseball's Yankees then heard him and offered him the same role for them for the 1950 season. But Sheppard's teaching schedule could not accommodate the 77-game home schedule for baseball (plus World Series games) and he turned down the offer.

"You must remember that in those days there were a lot of afternoon games," Sheppard said. "It was just not possible to do both things."

But the Yankees were persistent and again offered the PA job to Sheppard for the 1951 season with one attractive addition. The Yankees would allow Sheppard to hire a replacement for any games he would have to miss. And the rest, as they say, is history.

"A temporary job," Sheppard said, "that has lasted a half century."

In addition to more than 4,400 baseball games (including an incredible 119 post-season contests), Sheppard was also the public-address voice for the football Giants for 50 seasons—from their move to Yankee Stadium in 1956 until his retirement after the 2005 season.

Among the events he lists as the most-memorable of his incredible career are: Don Larsen's perfect game in Game Five of the 1956 World Series on October 8, 1956; Roger Maris' 61st home run on October 1, 1961; Reggie Jackson's three home runs in Game Six of the 1977 World Series on October 18, 1977; and the Giants-Colts overtime NFL Championship Game on December 28, 1958.

Sheppard has also served the New York Titans of the American Football League at the Polo Grounds, the New York Stars of the World Football League at Downing Stadium as well as the New York Cosmos (soccer) and St. John's University basketball and football games. Sheppard also handled the PA duties for five Army-Navy games in Philadelphia.

Over the years, the eloquent linguist has also written and delivered hundreds of moving tributes and eulogies to departed legends ranging from Mickey Mantle (1995) and Joe DiMaggio (1999) to those lost in the attacks of September 11, 2001 to Ray Charles (2004) and former President Ronald Reagan (2004).

In 1998, Sheppard was presented with the prestigious William J. Slocum "Long and Meritorious Service" award by the New York chapter of the BBWAA as well as the "Pride of the Yankees" award by the ball club. He was even honored with a ceremonial first pitch before Game Two of the 1998 World Series at Yankee Stadium (he recorded his own introduction). And, during his 50th season as the Yankees' PA announcer in 2000, he presented his most-recent Yankee-Stadium microphone to the Baseball Hall of Fame during induction ceremonies in Cooperstown, NY.

The native New Yorker has also been elected to the St. John's University Sports Hall of Fame, the Long Island Sports Hall of Fame and the New York Sports Hall of Fame. He has been awarded honorary doctorates from St. John's University (Pedagogy) and Fordham University (Rhetoric).

In one of the game's truly memorable moments, Sheppard introduced President George W. Bush before Game Three of the 2001 World Series (on October 30) as Mr. Bush became the first sitting President to throw out a ceremonial first pitch at Yankee Stadium.

Sheppard has also made cameo appearances in numerous motions picture and television shows, including 61*, It's My Turn, It Could Happen to You, Anger Management, Seinfeld and Mad About You.

Not bad for a part-time job.

"Most men go to work, but I go to a game," Sheppard said. "How many men would love to do that?"

He resides on Long Island with his wife, Mary. They have four children, four grandchildren and seven great grandchildren.

The Voices Before Sheppard: Case Closed?

Hard to believe, but Bob Sheppard is not the only Public Address Announcer in Yankee Stadium's fabled history. But no one—not even Sheppard himself—could remember who immediately preceded the current Stadium P.A. Announcer behind the microphone. Afterall, the last game by this mystery man would have been 56 years ago, probably the fourth and final game of the 1950 World Series between the Yankees and Philadelphia's "Whiz Kids" Phillies.

But, after years of search and research, the answer may have turned up in the transcript of an interview conducted in 1991 by writer Paul Doherty with Don Carney, the producer-director of Yankees telecasts for more than three decades.

Extolling Sheppard's longevity, Carney told Doherty that "Bob's been around forever. He followed Red Patterson, who was the club's Public Relations Director and also did the P.A."

Carney's words give not only the answer but may also explain the mystery. Sheppard's predecessor was widely but anonymously quoted in the newspapers for an infamous gaffe he made during a Yankees-Philadelphia Athletics game on May 31, 1946. "Will the spectators in the front row please remove their clothing..." he began, with the rest of his announcement: "from the front railing," drowned out by the crowd's laughter.

Red Patterson: The man who preceded Sheppard

The story got into the papers, but the identity of the speaker did not. Of course, it didn't. The writers didn't want to embarrass their main conduit for information about the club!

Additional research shows that Yankee Stadium was the last ballpark in the Majors to install a public-address system. It debuted in Game Three of the 1936 World Series and was manned by Jack Lenz and George Levy, two veterans of the time when information was still relayed to the crowd by megaphone.

The careers of Lenz and Levy began in 1915 when the Yankees and Giants shared the Polo Grounds. When the Yankees hopped across the Harlem River in 1923, Levy stayed with the Giants while Lenz took the Yankee post. "I grabbed the offer," Lenz said. "Who wouldn't, with the old Bambino holding forth at the Stadium?"

To do his job, Lenz sat in a box alongside the Yankees' dugout (then on the third-base side of Yankee Stadium) and shouted the batting orders and batteries (each team's pitcher and catcher) as well as the changes throughout the game. Unlike today, players were not announced each time they came to bat and Lenz was called upon only when a change was made.

Jack Lenz: "The little man with the big voice."

According to a feature article which appeared in the New York Evening News in the early thirties to celebrate a career of more than 2,000 consecutive games, Lenz—the "mild-mannered megaphone man"—would receive the lineups and batting orders from both managers approximately 15 minutes before the start of the game (3:15 p.m. in those days). After telephoning the press box with the "necessary dope," Lenz would pick up his megaphone and shout the batting orders and batteries. He directed his voice first toward the bleachers, then to the upper tiers of the grandstand and again to the lower stands.

Due to the vast size of their new ballpark, the Yankees actually began the 1927 season with two public address announcers to service Yankee Stadium. After the idea proved successful before a crowd of more than 65,000 on Opening Day, the "two-ply announcer system" of Lenz and Levy was used again for the second game when the crowd was only about 7,000. The experiment was likely short lived.

2008 All-Star Game

On January 31, 2007, Commissioner Allan H. (Bud) Selig announced that the New York Yankees will host the 2008 Major League Baseball All-Star Game at Yankee Stadium. The game will take place on Tuesday, July 15th, 2008 – during the final year that the stadium will be open – and is expected to generate more than one hundred million dollars of revenue for the city of New York.

The 2008 All-Star Game – the 79th Midsummer Classic – will be the fourth held in "The House That Ruth Built" and the eighth time that New York City has welcomed the event. The Yankees previously hosted the All-Star Game in 1939, 1960 and 1977; the Polo Grounds held the game in 1934 and 1942; Ebbets Field was the site in 1949; and Shea Stadium hosted the 1964 Midsummer Classic.

The Yankees have had the most All-Star players (112) and the most total All-Star selections (349) of any other Major League Baseball franchise since the Midsummer Classic originated in 1933.

The National League has a 2-1 advantage in the three previous All-Star Games played at Yankee Stadium, winning the last two contests. The American League won by a 3-1 score in 1939; the National League blanked the A.L. 6-0 in 1960; and the N.L. prevailed in 1977 by a score of 7-5.

The Latin Béisbol Academy

"The Latin Béisbol Academy was built to instruct, enhance and further develop the inherent skills in young, aspiring baseball players from all parts of Central and South America."

~ Yankees Senior Vice President Felix Lopez

For the vast majority of the Yankees' Latin American prospects, the Latin Beisbol Academy is the starting point for their professional careers.

Because the Yankees built their academy from scratch, player development personnel were able to manage every detail of the project, from the trainer's room to the clubhouses to the classrooms. The end result is a four-building, four-field complex with the capacity to house up to 110 players. There's even a small apartment building for coaches. The academy, which was completed last spring, has a campus feel to it that is not lost on the ballplayers, many of whom are spending time away from their families for the first time.

Previously, the Yankees had leased a variety of facilities in Latin America for scouting and player development use, but it became apparent that it was necessary for player development and scouting needs to find and develop their own facility.

"We've never had as many fields or batting cages," said Mark Newman, Yankees Senior Vice President of Baseball Operations. "We've never had this level of control over player nutrition or this kind of strength and conditioning facility. All of these things enhance our player development efforts. Already, we've seen the physical, mental, emotional and fundamental maturation of players at a more rapid rate, and we should see it to a greater degree in the future."

In addition to the training and instruction they will receive on the field, students at the academy spend time learning skills that will help them outside of baseball.

To further that goal, the Yankees created a partnership with Iberoamerican University (UNIBE) in Santo Domingo, a private institution that brings a group of 12 college professors to the academy. The professors teach everything from basic Spanish to three different levels of English, in addition to leading lectures on subjects such as conflict resolution and financial literacy.

The Yankees' Dominican Summer League 1 Team has won the league championship in each of the last two seasons. With the hard work and dedication of the Yankees' Player Development staff, the organization looks forward to the future, when these same young players can be a part of a World Championship in the Bronx.

Yankees, Chinese Baseball Association Reach Landmark Agreement

The New York Yankees and the Chinese Baseball Association held a press conference in Beijing, China on January 29 to announce a landmark Memorandum of Understanding that for the first time formalized a strategic alliance between a Major League Baseball Club and the Chinese Baseball Association.

The Agreement, subject to Major League Baseball's rules, regulations and agreements pertaining to The People's Republic of China, states that the Yankees will provide the CBA with guidance in training baseball players, which will include sending staff (coaches, player development, scouting and training personnel) to China to assist the CBA. The partnership will also allow the CBA to send staff to the Yankees' facilities in the United States in furtherance of those goals.

The Yankees were represented by Team President Randy Levine, Senior Vice President and General Manager Brian Cashman, Vice President and Assistant General Manager Jean Afterman, and Michael Tusiani, Vice President of Corporate Sales and Sponsorship. Beijing Womei Advertising Company Limited and Sportscorp China, headed by President and Managing Director Marc Ganis and Managing Director Kenneth Huang, coordinated the meetings and has been instrumental with the Yankees' activities in China.

"This agreement marks another milestone in baseball's international evolution," said Yankees President Randy Levine. "We are excited to begin work alongside our friends in the Chinese Baseball Association and they will receive our full support throughout this exciting process. The Yankees brand is recognized around the world, and this unprecedented opportunity allows us to further integrate the Yankees' name and our proud history of success into baseball's global landscape."

"It is a great honor to be a part of this unique and exciting opportunity," said New York Yankees General Manager Brian Cashman. "We are proud to begin work with the Chinese Baseball Association, and we will provide all of our available tools and resources to help develop and cultivate their baseball program from the ground up."

The CBA was represented by Chairman Hu Jianguo, Secretary General Shen Wei, and Deputy Secretary General Tian Yuan.

Michael Kay

As the Play-by-Play Announcer for the YES Network and WWOR-TV, Michael Kay immerses himself in all things New York in order to provide his listeners and viewers with original opinions and the most exclusive, up-to-the-minute Yankees information. Additionally, Kay is the Host of YES' CenterStage, an interview show with superstars of sports and entertainment, and hosts his own radio talk show on ESPN 1050 AM in New York.

Before joining the YES Network, Kay worked at the MSG Network since 1989 as a Yankees reporter. In 1992, he added the assignment of Knicks locker room reporter to his responsibilities, and continued in that role until the 1998-99 season.

In addition to his television work, the Bronx, NY native also worked as Yankees analyst on WABC Radio since 1992. Kay was a winner with Bob Goldscholl (WBBR) for "Best Sports Reporter" at the 2000 New York Metro Achievement in Radio Awards. After the Yankees World Series victories in 1996, 1998, and 2000, Kay and radio partner John Sterling were asked by New York City Mayor Rudolph Giuliani to host the post parade victory celebration at City Hall.

In 1998, Kay also began co-hosting "Sports Talk with John Sterling and Michael Kay", a MSG produced nightly sports radio call-in show which aired on WABC Radio during the winter months. During the baseball season, Kay and Sterling hosted "Yankee Talk" which aired 90 minutes prior to all weekend Yankees games.

Shortly after graduating from Fordham University in 1982 with a B.A. in Communications, Kay became one of the hot sports reporters in New York City with a style that combined great reporting skills with quality writing. While at Fordham, he honed his skills working for the school newspaper and radio station, working at SportsPhone and as the public address announcer for the New York Pro Summer Basketball League.

In 1982, Kay landed the job as general assignment writer for the New York Post. Two years later he began covering College Basketball (1984-85) and then the New Jersey Nets, who he covered for two seasons before becoming the newspaper's general basketball writer. In 1987, he was moved to baseball, serving as the Yankees "beat reporter". While he was in that position, he got his first television job with MSG Network as host of the "Hot Stove League" segment of MSG's "SportsNight". Kay moved from the Post to the New York Daily News in 1989, still covering the Yankees, and served in that capacity until 1992.

Kay was given the Dick Young award for Excellence in Sports Media by the New York Pro Baseball Scouts in 1995. He was also a part of the Yankees/MSG Production team that was nominated for New York Emmy Awards for six consecutive years. In 1998, he was on the MSG team that won for "Outstanding Live Sports Coverage—Series". In 1996 and 1997 he was a member of the MSG team that won New York Emmys for "Outstanding Live Sports Coverage—Single Program" for Dwight Gooden's no-hitter and "The Battle for New York: Yankees vs. Mets". Kay is single and resides in Hartsdale, N.Y.

Ken Singleton

YES Network's game analyst and announcer Ken Singleton had a 15-year Major League Baseball career as an outfielder and designated hitter. Known on the diamond as a consistent power hitter, Singleton has proven to be equally as reliable since joining the radio and television broadcast booths.

Previously, Singleton divided his time calling play-by-play and providing commentary at the MSG Network. In 1998, he was part of MSG's production team that won four New York Emmys for its Yankees coverage.

Singleton joined MSG Network in 1997 from the Sports Network (TSN), where he served as analyst for the Montreal Expos from 1985 to 1996. From 1991-96, he also called play-by-play and served as analyst for CIQC Radio, the Expos' flagship radio network. In 1996 and 1997, he was named by FOX Sports as a lead analyst for Saturday afternoon baseball broadcasts. In 1997 and 1998, he worked as an analyst for Major League Baseball International.

Singleton, a native New Yorker, played both baseball and basketball in high school, and also played baseball in the Bronx Federation League at McCombs Dam Park right across from Yankee Stadium. After getting a scholarship to play basketball at Hofstra University, and playing both sports for one year, Singleton was drafted by the Mets.

Singleton is one of only six players in Major League Baseball history to hit 35 or more switch-hit homers in a season. He also ranks among the all-time leaders in most Baltimore offensive categories, including homers, RBI, and total bases. During his career, Singleton was named to the American League All- Star Team in 1977, '79, and '81. He was named Most Valuable Oriole in 1975, '77, and '79. He retired after the 1984 season as a three-time All-Star with a 1983 World Championship ring.

John Flaherty

Former Yankees catcher John Flaherty enters his second season as a field reporter, studio analyst and game analyst for YES network telecasts in 2007.

Drafted by the Boston Red Sox in 1988, Flaherty progressed through the Red Sox' farm system before joining the Major League squad in 1992. He played 14 seasons with five teams (Red Sox 1992-93, Detroit Tigers 1994-96, San Diego Padres 1996-97, Tampa Bay Devil Rays 1998-02, and the Yankees 2003-05) and compiled a .252 career batting average.

Flaherty brought his knowledge of the game and his veteran style of leadership to the Yankees clubhouse when he was signed as a free agent in 2003. Though he played in 134 games with the Yankees across three seasons, he may be long remembered for his dramatic pinch-hit, walk-off single that defeated the Boston Red Sox in the 13th inning of an exhausting 5-4 victory on July 1, 2004

Flaherty is a New York City native and a graduate of George Washington University. For his career, he owns a .252 batting average in 1,047 games, with 80 career home runs.

Joe Girardi

2006 National League "Manager of the Year" Joe Girardi returns to the YES Network staff as an analyst for the 2007 season. In addition to providing game and studio analysis during the season, the 42-year old Girardi will co-host a new YES original series with fellow analyst John Flaherty called "Behind the Plate."

Despite having the league's lowest payroll in 2006, the veteran led a young Florida Marlins team to a 78-84 record in his first season as a Major League manager, guiding his club into playoff contention through mid-September.

A Major-League catcher for more than 15 years, Girardi helped lead the New York Yankees to three World Series Championships in 1996, 1998 and 1999. He was named to the National League All-Star Team in 2000 while playing with the Chicago Cubs. Originally drafted by the Cubs in the fifth round of the 1986 draft, he made his Major League debut in 1989 and played parts of 15 seasons with the Cubs, Colorado Rockies, the Yankees and the St. Louis Cardinals.

After his retirement as a player in 2004 Spring Training, Girardi joined the YES Network as an analyst for the 2004 season and won an Emmy Award for his hosting efforts on the YES Kids on Deck series. He had previously served as an analyst for the 2003 National League Division Series on ESPN Radio.

In 2005, Girardi put his broadcasting talents on hold and made his Major League coaching debut as the Yankees' Bench Coach on Joe Torre's staff. He was named Manager of the Marlins on October 19, 2005.

A 1986 graduate of Northwestern University with a degree in industrial engineering, Girardi was a three-time Academic All-American and two-time All-Big Ten selection at catcher. He and his wife, Kim, have three children.

In his second year with the YES Network, former Yankees' pitcher Al Leiter has established himself as an outstanding color commentator, providing viewers with insight gained from his 19 years as a player in the Major Leagues. Prior to signing with YES, Leiter had worked as a post-season game analyst for FOX Sports and ESPN.

Originally drafted by the Yankees in 1984, Leiter played parts of 19 professional seasons with the Yankees, Toronto Blue Jays, Florida Marlins and New York Mets. A two-time All-Star, he was a part of two World Championship teams (with Toronto in 1993 and Florida in 1997) and became the first pitcher in history to record a victory against all 30 Major League teams. On May 11, 1996, Leiter tossed the first no-hitter in Marlins' history in an 11-0 win vs. Colorado.

Leiter returned to the Yankees in a trade with the Marlins on July 16, 2005. His start vs. the Boston Red Sox on July 17 at Fenway Park marked a span of 16 years and 82 days between Yankee starts (first since 4/26/89 vs. Kansas City), the longest gap between starts by a Yankee pitcher in franchise history.

A native of Bayville, NJ, Leiter has been nearly as busy off-the-field as he has on it. Since 1996, he has donated more than $1.5 million to various charities in the New York area and in South Florida. In 2000, he was honored by Major League Baseball with the Roberto Clemente Award for his contributions to the community. With his wife, Lori, he created "Leiter's Landing", a charitable organization committed to the betterment of youth through education, health care and social and community service. Leiter has also been the recipient of numerous other awards and honors as a result of his charity work.

John Sterling

"Yankees win! Theeeeeee Yankees win!"

If anything has become synonymous with the Yankees' run of success over recent years, it is John Sterling's memorable conclusion to so many Yankee victories. And as the radio voice to 162 games a year, plus pre-season and post-season, he has called more than 2800 games over the last 17 seasons, without missing a one, making him one of the most recognized—and imitated voices—in all of New York sports.

Sterling joined the Yankees broadcast team in 1989 from Atlanta's TBS and WSB Radio, where he called Hawks basketball (1981-89) and Braves games (1982-87). But it was really a return to the town where he first achieved fame, hosting a talk show on WMCA from 1971-78, and calling the Nets (1975-80, and as a fill-in, in 1997) and Islanders (1975-78) for WMCA, WVNJ, WOR-TV and SportsChannel.

Sterling has also broadcast Morgan State Football (8 years), and did Washington Bullets basketball in 1981. In addition to his seven years at WMCA and a year at WSB in Atlanta, he has also hosted talk shows on WFAN, and WABC in New York. He has not missed a broadcast since the fall of '81.

As the host of the YES Network's acclaimed "Yankeeography" series, Sterling won two Emmy awards in 2003. He has also been honored by the New Jersey Sportswriters Association with its Radio-TV Excellence award (1999), and was the winner of the 2001 Whitney Radio Jimmy Cannon Award. In addition, his call of a Jason Giambi home run on WCBS radio in 2002 was voted the "best baseball call" of the year in a poll conducted by MLB.com. In 2002, Sterling was also honored by the NY Air Awards for being part of the best play-by-play team on radio.

When he's not in the booth, Sterling also serves as a master of ceremonies on the field for major Yankee events. He is also well known for his MC work at City Hall, with his longtime radio partner Michael Kay, at "Key to the City" ceremonies following Yankee World Series victories.

Sterling enjoys attending Broadway shows and boasts an extensive knowledge of the lyrics to many American pop standards. For the past eight years, he has been a spokesman for the Leukemia Society of America. He enjoys reading, movies and swimming. He lives in Bergen County, N.J., and is the proud father of four children: daughter Abigail and triplets, Veronica, Bradford and Derek.

Suzyn Waldman

Award winning journalist Suzyn Waldman begins her 21st season either covering or broadcasting for the Yankees. She joined John Sterling in the radio booth as the Yankees' color commentator on WCBS-AM radio becoming the first woman to hold a full-time position as a Major League broadcaster, and Waldman has spent the more than two decades overcoming all the obstacles that go along with being a female sports broadcaster, and has risen to the top of her profession.

In 1987, Waldman became the first female voice heard on WFAN, the first All-Sports Radio station in the country, and was a mainstay on that station for almost 15 years, creating the job of the radio beat reporter, covering both the New York Yankees and New York Knicks. Her news-breaking reports, exclusive interviews and always original and controversial opinions won her countless journalism awards. Her accolades include the "International Radio Award" for her live and emotional reporting from the upper deck of Candlestick Park during the 1989 San Francisco earthquake, the 1996 "NY Sportscaster of the Year" by The National Sportscasters & Sportswriters, and the American Women in Radio and TV's "Star Award" for Radio in 1999. Waldman became a popular talk show host at WFAN and co-hosted the coveted mid-day slot until leaving WFAN in 2002 to join the YES Network.

The word "first" invariably precedes the name of Suzyn Waldman in every facet of her television and radio career. The first woman to work on a nationally televised baseball broadcast, Waldman added another first, being the first woman to provide play-by-play for a Major League team, when she started broadcasting New York Yankees games for WPIX, MSG Network and WNYW/FOX5 in the mid '90s. The first and only woman ever to host an NBA pre- and post-game show, working in that capacity for the NY Knicks on WFAN, Waldman provided play-by-play for the WNBA on Lifetime TV and was an analyst on St. John's Basketball games for MSG and WFAN.

She has been honored by countless organizations, including the Thurman Munson Foundation, the March of Dimes, the B'nai B'rith, the Jimmy Fund of Boston, and the US Federal Women's Program for her contributions as a role model and a pioneer in women's sportscasting. In 2006 she was added to the Women in Baseball Exhibit permanently displayed at the Hall of Fame in Cooperstown and received the first Women's Global Health Award from the Albert Einstein College of Medicine at the United Nations. She is a tireless motivational speaker at schools and cancer centers around the country, encouraging young women to pursue their dreams despite any pitfalls they may encounter.

Waldman's life and struggles have been the subject of hundreds of magazine and newspaper articles, and chapters in children's and motivational books. She has been profiled on the Today Show, CBS Evening News with Dan Rather, ABC's 20/20 and NBC's Dateline.

A native Bostonian, with a degree in Economics from Boston's prestigious Simmons College, Suzyn spent 15 years on the Broadway Musical Stage, sang in countless niteclubs around the world, and is proudest of her two years starring opposite Richard Kiley in "Man of La Mancha." She now lives in Westchester with her German Shepherds, Kiley and A.J.
